Most Children will: • By drawing a map of their journey to school that includes some key landmarks and that uses different types of mark-making in their chosen medium. • With support, following the instructions to make a piece of felt that holds together and has elements of similarity to their map square. • Being able to make choices about which shapes and details from their map to include in their stained glass. • Following the process to make and print from a polystyrene tile; designing a print with simple lines and shapes • Being able to justify their preference for a favourite artwork; annotating their chosen artwork with relevant evaluation points and taking an active part in decisions around how to display their artworks in the class gallery.

More Able Children will: • Confidently justifying their choices when grouping map images, possibly using art vocabulary to explain similarities and differences. • Following the felting instructions independently and making a felt piece that interprets elements of their map square in a creative way. • Cutting cellophane shapes accurately and arranging them into a pleasing composition. • Designing an effective printing tile; following the steps in the printing process mostly independently • Confidently justifying their preference for a favourite artwork; annotating their chosen artwork with relevant evaluation points using art vocabulary and trying out different options for how to display their artworks in the class gallery.
